SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA SEASONS

As I write this, I am reminded of the popular adage that "there are no seasons in Southern California."

The pungent fragrance of drying sycamore leaves perfumes the air with a redolence of the crispiest New England fall. The long shadows of late afternoon are cast by a warm spectral light just above the horizon, and the drying leaves of the deciduous trees rattle against each other in the breeze. How could anyone miss the presence of autumn?

Our perception of autumn is attuned to changes which we see in the landscape. While much of our local cultivated landscape is dominated by seemingly static evergreen vegetation, many plants respond to shorter days of autumn by changing color, shedding leaves, ripening fruit, going dormant, or coming into flower. The landscape opens up and becomes more transparent. A tranquilizing sense of the repose fills the air.

The Arboretum is a wonderful setting in which to see the many facets of autumn in Southern California. One of the most unique aspects of our regional fall is the marvel of the Brazilian Silk Floss Trees (Chorisia speciosa). Their extravagant rose pink flowers appear in August or September, and continue to bloom through the winter.

FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT

BY JOHN PROVINE

This past year we have started to use more volunteers in the garden. We have always had volunteers working as field leaders, in the History Section, gift shop and doing mailings.

A number of years ago the volunteers started the Garden for All Seasons, then took over the planting and maintenance of the Adobe courtyard. Both gardens have been very successful and are well maintained proving how effective our garden volunteers are. Volunteers now work in other parts of the Arboretum, such as the Rose Garden, Herb Garden, South African Section, Kallam Garden, Water Conservation Garden and in the Forest area on a regular basis and with equally fine results.

Without interested volunteers we can not keep the Arboretum looking as good as it does. We need more work oriented garden volunteers and I urge you, if you are interested in volunteering and you have a few hours a week, to call Tim Lindsay, assistant superintendent at 818-821-3230.

I look forward to seeing you at the Arboretum during our spectacular Fall season.

FROM THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

BY SUSAN KRANWINKLE PRESIDENT

Background:

Since February of 1987, the Los Angeles County budget for the Arboretum has been cut by 25%.

At that time there were 47 full-time County Staff positions. Now just 35 positions are staffed.

The Arboretum became part of the Parks and Recreation Department when the Arboreta and Botanical Gardens was dissolved in 1992.

What's Up:

We know you have all shared our concern in recent months as members of the County Board of Supervisors pondered serious budget reductions throughout Los Angeles County. The fact that closing the Arboretum as a cost cutting measure was discussed by Supervisor Gloria Molina brought home to us that our communications program, creating and urging support for the Arboretum, its programs and its services, must be on-going and well informed. We have been successful in providing viable information and making a case for the Arboretum. The budget for our facility will not be cut in this fiscal year.

The Future:

California Arboretum Foundation Executive Director, Judy Morse, Director of Parks and Recreation for Los Angeles County, Rod Cooper, and all members of the Foundation Board of Trustee see this year as an opportunity for supporters of the Arboretum to make use of every available opportunity to ensure that our facility becomes financially self sustaining.

As we move toward this attainable goal, members of a steering committee, consisting of staff members from Parks and Recreation and the California Arboretum Foundation, along with Arboretum volunteers and members of the Foundation Board of Trustees, are forming long-range plans to establish ways to make conservative monetary decisions and to fiscally support the work and programs of the Arboretum.

We Are Celebrating:

The Arboretum is looking better than ever. Under the direction of Superintendent of the Arboretum, John Provine, and Fred Palmer, our Parks and Recreation Department liaison, grounds are being cleaned and weeded, buildings are being painted, our trees are being cared for and all trams are in working order and running.

New plantings, finished paths and the soon-to-be-completed pond round out the first phase of our newest project, the Forest area.

The California Arboretum Foundation Newsletter and Calendar have been combined and will be issued quarterly. We hope that this format will make it more convenient for our readers to keep up with garden news and to plan for events and classes. It also furthers our commitment to be fiscally conservative.

AN ENGLISH COUNTRY CHRISTMAS
A Floral Demonstration and Workshop with René van Rems

René van Rems attended the Floral Institute of the Netherlands and the Reitveld Academy of Arts in Amsterdam. An internationally known floral designer, van Rems creates a series of holiday floral arrangements and centerpieces in the traditional holiday theme — and the charm of English country. His European style demonstrates the tasteful use of new varieties of flowers and foliage, ribbons, baskets, berries and herbs.

The use of decorative accessories such as candle rings, napkin rings, candles, and napkin treatments will also be featured. In English country tradition, he creates a holiday garland certain to capture the very essence of van Rems Holiday spirit with its long lasting scent. All participants will create their own traditional style centerpiece with cedar, juniper, cedar cones, herbs, berries, ribbons, and candles, as well as new varieties of flowers and foliage. Your completed centerpiece will last and add charm throughout the holiday season.

FROM THE DIRECTOR

BY JUDY MORSE
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

UPDATE...

The recent July 13th headline suggesting possible closure of the Arboretum due to county budget cuts produced a rush of public comment to keep the Arboretum open. The Foundation thanks each of you who made the time to call your local Supervisor in support of our unique garden.

What we have learned from this experience is just how vulnerable County funding is. Even though Parks and Recreation has provided considerable assistance to the Arboretum, it looks to the Foundation to generate revenue and programs for increased and stable support. Your membership matters more than ever as do additional gifts you might wish to make.

CHANGES...

In order to develop more programs and classes, the Foundation is pleased to welcome Peg Stewart to its staff as Manager of Programs.

Peg has substantial credentials in the areas of program development, education, strategic planning, and historic preservation, as well as a long standing interest in horticulture and home gardening. Brooke Garlock left the Foundation staff in July in order to spend more time with her family, and Peg will assume some of Brooke's responsibilities.

The California Arboretum Foundation Members wish to express gratitude to the following outgoing Trustees for their dedication and service:

Joe Ciraulo, Bob Margett, John Galbraith, Harry Hufford

AND...

we welcome the following new trustees to the Foundation Board:

Susan Arcaris, Christie Bakaly, Don Deise
Bob Graham, George Liskow

MEET THE CAF STAFF

Greetings from all of us at the Foundation office. We are here to serve our membership and to assist in carrying out the mission of the Foundation at the Arboretum. If you haven't met us yet, please look for us when you visit the grounds and when you attend classes and events.

The Chinese Tea Olive (Osmanthus fragrans), a distant cousin of the true Olive, has minute white flowers which emit the ecstasy inducing scent of Freesias from fall well into spring.

The Meadowbrook section of the Arboretum is planted with a variety of trees and shrubs calculated to dazzle visitors with an array of fall color. In addition to the Liquidambar, whose autumn canopy is an exuberant mix of red, orange, yellow and purple, there are the scarlet leaved Chinese Tallow Tree (Sapium sebiferum) and Japanese Maple (Acer palmatum). Yellow is everywhere throughout the landscape, including the Ginkgo whose delicate fallen leaves resemble tissue paper, as well as the Redbuds (Cercis species), and Magnolias. The foliage of both the Chinese Smokebush (Cotinus coggygia) and the Asian Persimmon (Diospyros kaki) turn a rich orange, as does the foliage of many Crape Myrtle (Lagerstroemia) varieties. The leaves of the eastern Red Maple (Acer rubrum) vary from dark red to yellow flushed with red. Even the dull dark blue fruits of the Chinese Fringe Tree (Chionanthus retusus) provide a muted counterpoint that further sets off the brilliance of the surrounding foliage.

Visit the Arboretum this fall, and enjoy an undeniably dramatic change of season. And when you have the time, sit down under a shedding sycamore tree. Close your eyes, smell the air and listen.
